SAMUEL AYERS,
FORMERLY OF DANVILLE, KENTUCKY.
WATCHMAKER.

Successor to R. F. Meek, Main Street, Frankfort, Ky., continues the watch repairing business at the old stand. By promptness and care in his work he has gained the patronage of those who desire him to repair what is repaired without charge being made. Surgeons' cases, cameras repaired and other instruments requiring delicate repair and other instruments requiring delicate repair and accurate adjustment.

In referring from business in Frankfort I take pleasure in expressing my hearty endorsement of Mr. Ayers' skill and care in his work. I consider him a man whom it is a pleasure to communicate with, and always repaired with care and charge being made. Surgeons' cases, cameras repaired and other instruments requiring delicate repair and accurate adjustment.

The fair given by the Assembly Ball Club Thursday night was a delightful affair.

Officer Hyde arrested at Louisville thief and burglar by the name of Brewer, alias Wilson, in this city, Tuesday, on the charge of having stolen the overcoat and some other articles in Shreveport, Saturday. He had the occasion of vacation, and was sent to Shreveport for trial. A woman accompanying him, described to be a white attempt to live up to her name Rev. Father Young, representing herself to be an object of charity.

In regard to mean aviation, we intended on Thursday evening the first annual supper given by the "J. C. S. B." Club of Endorsees in honor of the young Endorsees College. The Club is composed of young gentlemen, the majority of whom are under twenty years of age. Mr. W. B. Holloman, formerly of this city, being President, and they certainly know how to put up a first-class entertainment. The company assembled at an early hour in the parlors of the Moody House and enjoyed themselves in pleasant conversation until half past ten, when they went up to dinner at the Hotel Hall, where the most sumptuous repast we ever sat down to was spread. The tables were arranged to the honor of the active H., and were tastefully decorated by the skillful hands of Mrs. W. P. Thorpe, Misses Lucy Hooker and Mattie Arnold, and handsomely graced with their weight of good things. An address was welcome to the guests was delivered on behalf of the Club by Mr. John A. Cambell and responded to by Mr. G. Allison Holloman of Louisville, after which the following toast was given:

"Our friends"—W. P. Thorpe, Esq.

Response by Mr. H. Pollard Esq. of Louisville.

"The Ladies"—Dr. D. Todd.

Response by Mr. W. B. Holloman.

"Our Congressman"—Hon. W. B. Flemer of Louisville.

Response by A. B. Smith, Esq.

To the credit of the young gentlemen let it be known that every dish was finished from the table and everything passed off splendidly. During the meeting the guests were at the table delighted music was furnished by the Shreveport String Band.

We wish the Club many returns of the very pleasant occasion.

We are under obligations to Mrs. W. P. Thorpe and Mr. G. Allison Holloman, Secretary for services shown.

The next show of Col. C. E. Brownlow, Commissioner of Agriculture, took place

Tuesday afternoon in front of the Commissioner's office, in the State House yard, and was addressed by a great number of farmers.

The following list of gentlemen admitted as judges and awarded the the premiums:

Judge W. S. Pryor of Henry, Judge J. H. McElroy, of Mt. Sterling, Hon. Lynn Boyd, of Covington; Capt. Jacob Swett, of Woodford; W. A. Reese, Capt. of Shreveport and Genl. Sam Brown, Messrs. Alex. Judd, W. H. Lewis, R. S. Triplett, and W. L. Collins, of Franklin. There were some seventy-five or eighty entries and the samples shown were all very fine. Following is a list of the awards:

White Corn—First premium $5. R. F. Coons, Louisville; second premium $10. T. J. Johnson, Little Mount, Spencer county.

Yellow Corn—First premium $15. W. A. & L. M. Reese, Shelby county; second premium $10, same.

Brown Corn—First premium $15. Crittenden Reese, Todd county; second premium $10. Joe Faulkner, Boyle county.

Mixed or Pied Corn—Premium $5. J. J. Reese, Henry county.

Honey Corn—Premium $15. L. J. Cox, Franklin county.

Cattle Corn—Premium $15. Joe Faulkner, Boyle county.

Samples which were raised from seed that took the premium at the Centennial and

Cincinnati Expositions, and from seed imported from Normandy, were among those exhibited and in every instance were beaten by our native corn. So Kentucky is to the front in a corn raising State.

Holiday presents at Seller's.

There will be preaching at the Taylorton Church tomorrow noon. A new walk is nearly completed down thru the city, and it is just a nice distance for an afternoon walk.

You are invited to call on J. M. Brown's Old Market House Corner next Thursday, the 5th inst., and examine the stock assortment in Toys & Holiday goods, which will be opened on that day.

The Thanksgiving dinner spread by the enterprising proprietor of the Capital Hotel was an appealing feast but was enjoyed by a number of invited guests. We have just closed a Capital Hotel with a capital proprietress who knows how to do the capital thing.

Benson

Mrs. Ezra Allison is thought to be very well.

Morland and Ella Sheets are very ill at this time.

Material fever is raging between Benson and Jacksonville.

The serpents have turned out twice today, girls boys.

Mrs. Merchant of South Frankfort is visiting Mrs. James Bullett, of the place.

The meeting at North Benson Church closed on the 20th, with only three voting.

Mrs. J. H. Shadrack has been very sick, but we are now glad to hear that she is decidedly better.

Mrs. Kate Smithers, of Frankfort, is on a visit to her father, Mr. James Smithers, of this neighborhood.

Mr. Austin Robinson has about completed, and will soon move into his new dwelling on Prospect Hill, near this place.

Died—Tuesday, the 21st, at 3 a.m., Mrs. Alice Jessie. We deplore deeply with the bereaved husband and little son.

Mr. Wm F. Rodgers has improved the looks of his premises considerably by building a sparkling new barn. Come again, William.

Hog killing has commenced in earnest and the men in the valley are called out and comes to see no more about it. Rest in peace, Joseph.

Our new bright light is quite splendid as the girl said. We forgot to say in fact that Squirt Hambur is the architect and Capt. Rod. Fox builder of the engine.

The C. & O. train last Tuesday night, the 21st, ran over two valuable cows belonging to Mr. ——. His grove of trees shading them. The cows were little trifling cost with the cows, why didn't they look for them? Unfortunately there was no beef for us, it may be known in time.

When will we hear the list of the Ashland affair. If no one wants to know why happen in any longer, why does not Guy Blackburn call me and give me the facts, let the court decide the blame, who is to be blamed, or is he satisfied to take Mal. At so long and nothing else? Imagine that has been said, and some others to come.
